Description

Situated in the established but increasingly in-vogue residential area of El Paraiso, this stunning modern four-bedroom villa features eye-catching architectural design and the latest build qualities and technical amenities. The 461m2 villa is located close to the sweeping fairways of the classic El Paraiso golf course designed by the legendary Gary Player. This attractive and largely consolidated area is very much in demand with today's buyers thanks to a peaceful natural setting with golf, sea and mountain views close to all amenities. Roughly midway between Estepona, Benahavis and San Pedro Alcántara, this part of the New Golden Mile is also close to Puerto Banús and Marbella, not to mention sandy shores and trendy beach clubs.

The elegant design is visible as soon as you enter the driveway with ambient lighting and water features highlighting timeless retro-inspired modern architecture. The open-plan living area is bright and spacious leading out onto a modern kitchen and bar, delightful covered terraces and a superb infinity pool that is a design feature in its own right. Every element of this refined architectural villa is a visual pleasure.
