Description

GILMAR presents this impressive detached villa, set on a large plot with mature landscaping and a swimming pool in Somosaguas A.

The property welcomes us with a striking fountain, built by the same stonemason who worked on the cathedrals of Segovia. Its design follows golden proportions in harmony with the courtyard, providing visual balance and architectural elegance to the whole ensemble.

This detached home offers significant renovation potential, increasingly rare to find today, as its layout is functional, well-balanced, and aligned with modern living requirements.

The property is essentially distributed over two main floors plus a basement:
